

Work continues on the new Schroeder Family School of Business Administration. Pictured below: is the exterior of parts of the south and east sides of the building showcasing the bay window and the nearly completed stonework on the front. Inside archways have been cut, and work continues to convert Dunigan Hall into what will serve as the University's dining space next year.

